Further, as per available information, although a number of ISI-backed espionage and terrorist modules have been busted in the country, it would however be inappropriate to presume that ISI-backed terror/espionage modules are extending their tentacles far and wide or that their presence is significant. It is correct that 10 ISI-backed espionage modules have been neutralized in Uttar Pradesh during 2004-2007, but it can not be said that Uttar Pradesh has emerged as a major hub for spying by ISI agents. The Inter-State Intelligence Support Teams (.ISISTs) have been constituted for dealing with internal threats concerning more than one State. The Central Government has been sensitizing the State Governments about the activities of ISI. The Central and State security and intelligence agencies by maintaining close coordination have also devised strategies to counter such threats, which is reflected by the number of such modules busted from time to time.
